Bonita Bay Group®

Traditional Approaches

- Not a question of IF this property develops
- Question is HOW
- Rural land use allows for suburban sprawl
  - Not "rural"
  - Not environmentally sensitive
  - No edge protection
- WE CAN DO BETTER

The Evolution of Planning Efforts

Bonita Bay Group®

- North River Village—Raising the bar
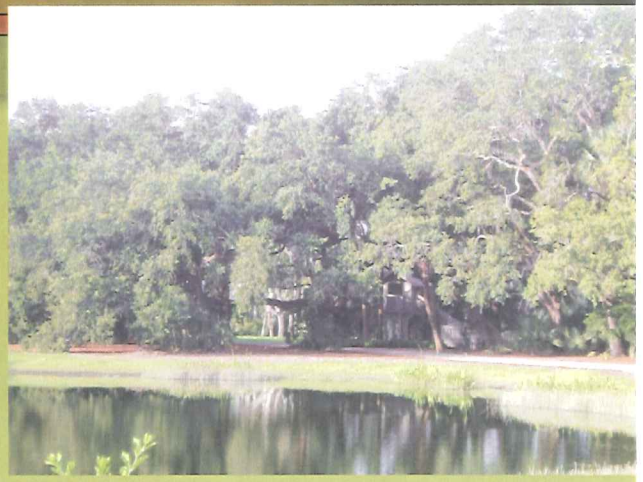
  - Creating public access
  - Enhanced level of environmentally sensitive development design
  - Edge protection
  - New level of community involvement
  - Infrastructure extension



Community Outreach: Proposed Policy 1.10.5

NET PUBLIC BENEFIT

Environmental Benefits: LID Proposed Policy 1.10.16

Bonita Bay Group®

- LID (Low Impact Development): approach to site development that minimizes development impacts by:
  1. Decreasing impervious surfaces
  2. Reducing roadway surfaces
  3. Permeable pavement surfaces
  4. Natural resource preservation and Xeriscaping
  5. Improves water quality & storage

Existing Land Use

- Ag-2 & 1 unit per acre
- Limited open space or habitat preservation mandates
- No requirement to preserve CR 78 corridor
- Encourages sprawl
- Septic and wells unavoidable
- No consideration for drought tolerant plants
- Minimal environmental criteria
- No public benefits or River access

Proposed Land Use

- Clusters homes
- Preserves open space and wildlife habitat
- Requires edge treatment
- Encourages walkable communities
- Requires central utilities/enhances water quality
- Mandates drought tolerant plants—limits irrigated turf areas
- Requirements for Clean Marina, Green Building Standards, LID, LEED Buildings, Energy Star, FNY, NWF Backyard Wildlife Habitats, Fla. Firewise, etc.
- Significant public benefits -- Access to river, creeks and marina village, public canoe/kayak launch, transportation improvements, regional hurricane shelter, sense of place with a village center, pedestrian, bike and horse trails

  - Smart Growth principles
  - Urban Sprawl
  - Population accommodation

Conventional versus Smart Growth

Bonita Bay Group®

Conventional Development

Loss of natural land or open space

Depleted drinking water supply

Reduced quantity and quality of water resources

Increased infrastructure costs & maintenance

Smart Development

Less land clearing and grading costs

Reduced infrastructure costs

Protection of regional water quality

Human scale neighborhoods

Increased open space

Smart Growth

"Smart growth is not no growth; rather, it seeks to …foster efficient development …in the process creating more livable communities."

Benefits of North River Village to North Olga Area/Region

Public access:

- Public canoe/kayak launch on Trout Creek at CR 78 with connection to County Blueway System
- Public roads leading to a marina with retail and dining facilities open to the public
- Public boating access to Williams Island from the River
- Public access to Trout Creek, Owl Creek and the River
- Public access to pedestrian, biking and equestrian trails

No onsite wells:

- Less demand on the "local" aquifer and no impact on the long term viability of existing wells
- Central water and use of re-use water (when available) for irrigation plus extensive use of drought tolerant plants.

Protection of water quality in the river and creeks:

- Central sewer means no new septic tanks near to add pollutants to the river
- State of the art/science surface water management system to collect and treat storm water

Enhanced fire protection to the area

- Fire hydrants close by in CR 78 right of way along NRV frontage

Economic benefits & jobs closer to home:

- North River Village will generate 3,000 jobs annually during the 15 year build out
- Permanent jobs from community operations, marina and retail facilities
- $40 million in ad valorem taxes during development and $8 million annually after build-out

Roadway improvements:

- Enhancement of the SR 31
- Improvements to SR 80

General Benefits:

- Uncovers and builds upon the history of the area, thereby helping to enhance, develop, and achieving a unique sense of community and place
- Preserves, conserves and enhances natural and cultural resources
- Develops pedestrian and bicycle friendly environments
- Preserves and enhances more useable open space (50% of the 1,232 acre NRV project will be open space, allowing for enhancement of wildlife habitat and placing much natural lands into conservation easements which protect these in perpetuity. The existing zoning does not have open space requirements)
- Preserve, conserve, and enhance natural and cultural resources
- Remove exotics; enhance over 350 acres of native upland and wetland vegetation
- Restore greenways/blueways provides connection to adjacent natural systems including:
- Restoration of creeks, buffers, and habitats will create cover, corridors, and food source for wildlife
- Oxbow restoration
- Owl Creek Marina designed to DEP Clean Marina standards
- Water conservation techniques implemented throughout community
- Water management techniques enhance river quality
- All homes will be built to Florida Green Building standards

THE HISTORY OF NORTH OLGA

By Cathy Chestnut

Caloosa. Owanita. Upcohol. Rialto. Idalia. Olga.

To the modern world, these are simply names on street signs or platted subdivisions. Around the turn of the 20th century, they were tight-knit, distinct communities flanking the fertile shores of the Caloosahatchee east of Fort Myers.

In Southwest Florida's earliest days, the winding Caloosahatchee was the region's main mode of transportation. Along it sprung up settlements established by homesteaders who came following the Seminole Wars to forge new lives from plentiful, cheap and fertile land and the hearty, free-roaming Andalusian cattle left behind by Spanish explorer Ponce de Leon during his 1513 and 1521 visits.

Since the Civil War (1861-1865), the rich, riparian land surrounded by pine forest and old growth cypress swamp in the Olga/Alva region had offered a bounty to families and had earned a reputation as "an important farming district," according to Thomas A. Gonzalez's History of The Caloosahatchee River and the City of Fort Myers, Florida (1932).

Philadelphia manufacturer Hamilton Disston purchased four million acres from the state in 1881 and dredged wetlands along the upper reaches of the river east from Fort Thompson (east of LaBelle) to Lake Okeechobee. Capt. Peter Nelson, who had lived in the Fort Myers region since 1867, worked as a supply carrier for Disston until the project was completed in 1883. On one of those journeys in 1881, Nelson named a high bank along the river "Alva," and purchased homesteader White's claim of 160 acres on the north side of the river.

Its neighbor about seven miles to the west, Olga, was founded by Laughlin McNeil and A.T.G. Parkinson in 1884, and was named after a famous Russian princess. The first written record of both Alva and Olga appeared in the August 8, 1885 Fort Myers Press. Editor Stafford C. Cleveland wrote that "about twelve miles above Fort Myers, at a point where the telegraph line crosses the river, we reach the home of A.T.G. Parkinson, who keeps a ferry for himself and for the accommodation of the public; a mile farther and the site of Olga is reached." The article describes Olga as a post office at a "pretty site" owned by L. McNeill (another spelling).

"The next place of importance was Hollingsworth ferry, where thousands of cattle crossed from the north side of the river en route to Punta Rassa for shipment to Key West and Cuba," according to Gonzalez's history.

At that time: "Few settlers were in the area...the English, Hickey, McKinley, Edward Parkinson and A.T.G. Parkinson families were busy with citrus and vegetables for sustenance and export."

In 1885, Cleveland noted that the fertile lands in the Alva/Olga area, "in the wake of steam transit on the river will rapidly fill up with good settlers." Already, there were 50 to 60 families in the region. The families mainly grew vegetables and fruits for sustenance and export, and dealt in cattle. Thus, wooden docks, or landings, were built to load their fruits and vegetables onto passing sloops, then steamers, which dropped off mail and goods and picked up their commodities.

In the days of the Spanish-American War (1898), Olga was a cattle community. Any place along the river that had a viable crossing upped its importance along the river.

Nelson returned to survey and plat Alva, which straddled the north and south sides of the river, and the official plat was recorded in 1890.

After its original founding, S.L. Rutledge settled Olga in 1902. With the challenge of herding the cattle across the river at Olga, Rutledge soon learned to earn extra money by "bull rowing." For a fee of one dollar per herd, he would row the lead bull across the river with the rest of the cows following behind. Any cow that didn't follow the herd through the water was personally taken across by Rutledge. Finally, in 1903, a steel, hand-cranked bridge opened up the river in Alva.

It is not known how long McNeil operated the post office. In those days, absent of a post office building, the postmaster would agree to take in the mail from the passing steamer once a week and keep it where settlers could come to retrieve and/or distribute it. One record indicates he vacated postal duties in 1895.

McNeil is credited with operating a school out of his Olga home in 1892. A school was built in 1897 on the south side of the river, at one time known as McNeil Schoolhouse. Like the "post offices," schools could be of a transient nature, dependent on student enrollment and attendance, demographic need and funding. The school closed in 1907 when the Lee Board of Public Instruction built the North Olga School on the north side of the river. It was moved again in 1913 to the Upcohol enclave hugging the west of North Olga.

Today, the broad area surrounding the peninsular tip of the property owned by Robert Fowler constituted Upcohol, which reportedly had a turpentine still and sawmill, which led to its importance as a place-name The Upcohol School was also known as the Sulfur Head School because it was located near a small artesian well that trickled with a red, iron-rich, sulfur water out of the ground. Land for the school was deeded by John P. Hart and his wife.

Hart and his brother owned an expansive cattle grazing operation in Olga. Hart's brother, Hilton P. Hart, bought 8 heads from John P. and relocated to North Fort Myers to establish what would become the prosperous Hart's Dairy of Florida, which was bought out by a conglomerate in the 1980s.

William F. "Willie" Wilson, would later build a home at Trout Creek.

Wilson's family was a major player in the Olga community. His father, William Maynard Wilson and mother, Lillie E. Wilson, built a fine, two-story home of local pine in 1913 amidst a large orange grove on the south side of the river in Olga and had three children: Nellie, William F. and Albert Floyd.

According to research by Amy Williams of The News-Press Tropicalia, Wilson related: "I want a house big enough to turn around in," he said of the large, high-ceiling rooms. "Well," replied Lillie, "those rooms will be big enough to turn a horse and wagon in." It soon became "a favorite gathering place ... where everyone listened in spellbound silence to the marvelous Edison Concert Phonograph ... the Wilsons' Saturday night concerts attracted folks from miles around."

Their youngest son, Albert Floyd Wilson, was born in 1910. Times were tough for the family; Floyd Wilson was 12 and dropped out of school to drive a truck and help in the family's orange groves, Williams reported.

Floyd Wilson served on a minesweeper in the U.S. Navy for four years and returned to the family grove. William Maynard Wilson died at the age of 81 at his Olga home in February 1943. Albert Floyd helped to oversee the 30-acre property, which is now overgrown, and served as an agricultural inspector and married his wife, Evey, late in life, in 1951.

They had no children, and he stayed on long after her death. In September of 2003, the home was deemed a dangerously dilapidated liability and was burned to the ground for practice training for the Fort Myers Shores Fire Department. In 2004, Floyd Wilson died at the age of 93 under the care of kindly next-door neighbors.

In the Hart/Wilson area, a pitch plant or tar kiln was in operation, which employed local African Americans who also lived in separate areas in the Olga/Upcohol area. While the pine trees were used for both lumber and turpentine, the abandoned tree stumps were left in the ground, where they turned solid as stone. The "lighter knots" or pine stumps were pulled out and hauled to the plant to be incinerated and turned into an ash. According to long-time resident Glen Cary, the plant was operated by the Hercules Powder Company, the dynamite and gun powder company founded in 1882, which later diversified into other products. The lighter knots are "harder than a rock. You can't drive a nail through it," says Cary. (It is not known at this time what years this plant existed.)

Another use for pine tree sap was as a substitute for readily available chewing gum. The dripping sap could be balled up and, though flakey, chewed for several minutes until it had the consistency of chewing gum, according to Cary. "That couldn't have tasted very good," remarks his wife, Linnie Cary. "Well, it was better than nothing. We didn't have much," replies Glen Cary.

In later years, the state's mandated "dipping vats" were located in the same general area of the lighter-knot kilns. Cows were dipped, each and every one, to kill disease-spreading ticks.

In Cary's recollection, the Sulfur Head School educated the children of the black laborers of the Hercules operation. According to other sources, it was chosen "because it was better located for the student population." Nonetheless, the Sulfur Head School burned down in a woods fire in 1917. (According to Cary, the sulfur spring was later buried under river dredge material and is located on property now owned by Bonita Bay Group.)

The communities of Olga, Upcohol and Idalia wanted another school, and a nice permanent one was finally erected in 1927 on the south side of the river, across the bridge on 2325 S. Olga Drive. In the throes of the Great Depression, it closed in 1938. It has since operated as a church and has been preserved and renovated as the popular Olga Community Center.

In later years, teacher Alice English recalled that when she arrived to teach in 1931: "the Olga community had reached the peculiar pass of losing its children. The enrollment was 13, never to exceed 19 in six grades." English's class caught snakes for a county-wide exhibit, and performed wildflower studies for nature study and art lessons. One man who owned an orange grove on the river, Mr. J.E. Mills, invited the students to go to his grove to see a hummingbird nest, and they loaded into a Studebaker after school. "Mr. Mills had a ladder ready which each child mounted to see the little lichen-cup of a nest on top of a small limb…"

Cary's maternal grandfather, John Cleo Duke, of Kentucky, at the behest of his doctor to seek a warmer climate, landed in Idalia, a small river landing on the river's south side near Olga, around 1910 or 1911, with a portable sawmill. Duke soon bought a tract of timber in Immokalee and opened the second sawmill in Collier County, says Cary. Once the timber was cut out, Duke returned to Idalia. (Idalia was so small that in 1919, only two buildings were on the "townsite" — a school and a residence.)

Later, with oxcarts, Duke moved his portable mill to Marco Island, Estero, Pine Island and Tice. Duke's timber was sold to anyone who needed it, and he was peddling it at the right time — for the building of bridges along the Tamiami Trail and for the frequent rebuilding of Thomas Edison's dock in Fort Myers, Cary says.

In a controversial debate over whether the city of Fort Myers should branch out to Arcadia to the north or to Labelle to the east, Olga scored a victory.

A second, hand-cranked bridge opened at Olga in February 1915. It was a major boon to Olga and a critical piece of the transportation network. A small bridge-tender's home was built in 1916 on present-day North Olga Drive, and the bridge tender would work a large crank to let passing boats through. "It was said that the bridge-tender's house was built in the moonlight at night. You worked any time you could," says Cary, now 79 years old.

Finally, Dixie Highway, an oyster-shell road that traveled south out of Arcadia (part of present-day Highway 31) and into Olga along North Olga Drive, where it crossed the river and turned into Buckingham heading into Fort Myers, smoothly connected Olga with the outside world. (And it was a shortcut from Alva.)

When Duke tired of toting his sawmill, he settled on the north side of Olga and built a one-room home with a cistern in 1928. In the 1940s, two more rooms and a bathroom were added. Duke stuck it out through the Great Depression by working his cattle operation and trading his homemade cane sugar syrup with local stores. The cane grinder still sits behind his 1928 home. As Cary points out, every family worked to be self-sufficient, whether through carpentry, cattle, farming, surveying, bee-keeping, piloting boats, bridge-tending, teaching, or whatever means was necessary.

Eventually, Duke acquired surrounding acreage through the 1937 Murphy Act, which allowed the state to sell forfeited land for the cost of the back taxes that were owed. He ultimately purchased 1,100 acres and expanded his calf-raising business.

Duke's property encompassed much of the Olga area along the north side of the Caloosahatchee, except for the Upcohol area, which was purchased by Donald Hawkins, who owned the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. in Fort Myers. When Hawkins desired to build a home on his waterfront land in the early 1950s, he worked with Cleo Duke and the county commissioners to establish a public "viewer's right of way" along the river so that Hawkins could access his property in a straight shot from North Olga Drive, without having to meander through the only local road, traversing Duke's cattle range. Duke favorably agreed, and the new shell path was named Duke Highway (and locals say it remains the only county road that is unpaved).

The eastern stretch of the Caloosahatchee was dredged in 1936 and again in the late 1950s. Both dredging operations substantially altered the curves of the river, and the way the locals knew and understood the river. Oxbows were bypassed, and the dredge material was dumped onshore. Places known as Devil's Bend and Devil's Elbow — which proved quite challenging to the early sailors, paddleboat and steamship pilots — no longer held much meaning.

South Side Shuffle

Historically, it appears, the north side of Olga was host to major cattle operations, perhaps thanks to its inherent proximity to Arcadia and Wauchula — the places of livestock sales, auctions and state-sanctioned slaughter. There were also a number of citrus orchards and personal vegetable gardens.

On the river's south side in Olga, the economy of truck farming was perhaps more diversified, though still centered mostly on citrus. (Alva's landing and storage area was at one time widely known as Citrus Center.) While the north side seems in retrospect to have been a hard-working side, the south side seems to have incorporated a social center as well.

On the south side, the Wilsons oversaw their large orange grove, as did many other large grove owners and small family farms.

In 1922, following the opening of the Olga Bridge and the spreading popularity of the automobile, the Byrd family built and opened the Olga General Store at 2319 Olga Drive, about a mile south of the bridge, where travelers would eventually pass. It was the "center of Olga."

The family of Ruby Daniels, nee Whidden, who was born in Bonita Springs, moved to the Alcoma orange grove in Olga when she was 2 years old in 1941 because her father was seeking a job. The family moved into a long, rectangular home on the outskirts of the Alcoma groves. State Road 80 didn't exist. To the east beyond the groves along the river, "it was nothing but woods," she recalls.

Locals went to the Byrds' general store for "odds and ends" until the Byrds turned the operation over to the Murphy family. At the onset of World War II, the Byrds built a dance hall a few blocks down at what is now known as Old Olga Road. (The triangular parcel midway down still houses the hall.) They ran the hall to entertain military personnel stationed at Buckingham (and to make a profit) until World War II ended.

The Olga General Store had a gas pump run by the Murphy boys, and though the pump is gone, what's now called the Olga Mall still serves up sandwiches, local flavor and collectibles to all passersby.

The opening of the new Wilson Pigott Bridge in 1961 and development of State Road 80 and Highway 31 was the harbinger of things to come; it signaled the end of what is truly known as North Olga today. With the removal of the Olga Bridge and the re-routing of the old roads that wound through Olga, and the reconfiguration of State Road 78 (North River Road), motorists happily traveled from Fort Myers or Bayshore to Alva, leaving the Old Olga behind.

It may have seemed to be the death knell for Olga at the time. But as a community, Olga never really wanted to compete with Alva — with its hotels, library, fancy schools, bigger population and formal plats — in the first place. And because the major roads and byways wound up passing it by, Olga was largely forgotten, except for the people who live and breathe it.

Bonita Bay Group®

Public Benefits of North River Village

Public access:

- Public canoe/kayak launch on Trout Creek at CR 78 with connection to County Blueway System
- Public roads leading to a marina with retail and dining facilities open to the public
- Public boating access to Williams Island from the River
- Public access to Trout Creek and the Caloosahatchee River
- Public access to pedestrian, biking and equestrian trails along CR 78

Protection of water quality in the river and creeks:

- Central sewer means no new septic tanks near the Caloosahatchee River to add pollutants to the river
- New low impact development techniques incorporated into the water management system to enhance water quality
- Central water and use of re-use water (when available) for irrigation plus extensive use of drought tolerant plants.
- Owl Creek Marina designed to DEP Clean Marina standards

Enhanced fire protection to the area

- Provide more efficient access for emergency vehicles to surrounding neighbors

Economic benefits & jobs closer to home:

- North River Village will generate 3,000 jobs annually during the 15 year build-out
- Permanent jobs from community operations, marina and retail facilities
- $40 million in ad valorem taxes during development and $8 million annually after build-out

Roadway improvements:

- Significant right-of-way for future widening of SR 31
- Improvements to SR 80
- Improve local road system by providing a public road connection from SR 31 to CR 78
- Projected payment of over $20 million in impact fees
- Provide $6 million over and above impact fees for road improvements

General Benefits:

- Maintains existing character of CR 78
- Preserves and enhances natural and cultural resources
- Promotes healthy living by providing more than 6 miles of pedestrian and bicycle trails and sidewalks.
- Provide more functional open space than required by county. 50% of the 1,232-acre NRV project will be open space
- Provide greenways and blueways connections to existing systems
- Removal of exotics from Owl Creek and Trout Creek will improve drainage and habitat corridors
- Water conservation techniques implemented throughout community
- All single family homes will be built to Florida Green Building Coalition standards

9J-5.006 Future Land Use Element.

The purpose of the future land use element is the designation of future land use patterns as reflected in the goals, objectives and policies of the local government comprehensive plan elements. Future land use patterns are depicted on the future land use map or map series within the element.

(1) Existing Land Use Data Requirements. The element shall be based upon the following data requirements pursuant to subsection 9J-5.005(2), F.A.C.

(a) The following generalized land uses or conditions shall be shown on the existing land use map or map series:

1. Residential use;
2. Commercial use;
3. Industrial use;
4. Agricultural use;
5. Recreational use;
6. Conservation use;
7. Educational use;
8. Public buildings and grounds;
9. Other public facilities;
10. Vacant or undeveloped land; and
11. Historic resources.

(b) The following natural resources shall be shown on the existing land use map or map series:

1. Existing and planned public potable waterwells and wellhead protection areas;
2. Beaches and shores, including estuarine systems;
3. Rivers, bays, lakes, floodplains, and harbors;
4. Wetlands; and
5. Minerals and soils.

(c) The approximate acreage and the general range of density or intensity of use shall be provided in tabular form for the gross land area included in each existing land use category.

(d) If determined by the local government to be appropriate, educational uses, public buildings and grounds, and other public facilities may be shown as one land use category on the existing land use map or map series.

(e) If the local government has determined it necessary to utilize other categories of the public and private use of land, such categories of land use shall be shown on the existing land use map or map series, and clearly identified in the legend.

(f) The existing land use map or map series shall:

1. Indicate the generalized land uses of land adjacent to its boundaries; municipalities shall also indicate unincorporated enclaves located within their corporate limits;
2. Identify any areas that fall within a designated area of critical state concern, pursuant to Section 380.05, F.S.; and
3. Identify any existing dredge spoil disposal sites for coastal counties and municipalities that have dredge spoil disposal responsibilities.

(g) Population projections as prescribed in the general requirements section of this chapter.

(2) Land Use Analysis Requirements. The element shall be based upon the following analyses which support the comprehensive plan pursuant to subsection 9J-5.005(2), F.A.C.

(a) An analysis of the availability of facilities and services as identified in the traffic circulation, transportation, and sanitary sewer, solid waste, drainage, potable water and natural groundwater aquifer recharge elements, to serve existing land uses included in the data requirements above and land for which development orders have been issued;

(b) An analysis of the character and magnitude of existing vacant or undeveloped land in order to determine its suitability for use, including where available:

1. Gross vacant or undeveloped land area, as indicated in paragraph (1)(b);
2. Soils;
3. Topography;
4. Natural resources; and
5. Historic resources;

(c) An analysis of the amount of land needed to accommodate the projected population, including:

1. The categories of land use and their densities or intensities of use,

2. The estimated gross acreage needed by category, and

3. A description of the methodology used;

(d) An analysis of the need for redevelopment including:

1. Renewal of blighted areas, and

2. Elimination or reduction of uses inconsistent with the community's character and proposed future land uses;

(e) An analysis of the proposed development and redevelopment of flood prone areas based upon a suitability determination from Flood Insurance Rate Maps, Flood Hazard Boundary Maps, or other most accurate information available.

(f) For coastal counties and municipalities with dredge spoil responsibilities, include an analysis of the need for additional dredge spoil disposal sites through the long term planning period established in the plan.

(g) An analysis of proposed development and redevelopment based on recommendations, deemed appropriate by the local government, contained in any existing or future hazard mitigation reports.

(3) Requirements for Future Land Use Goals, Objectives and Policies.

(a) The element shall contain one or more goal statements which establish the long-term end toward which land use programs and activities are ultimately directed.

(b) The element shall contain one or more specific objectives for each goal statement which address the requirements of paragraph 163.3177(6)(a), F.S., and which:

1. Coordinate future land uses with the appropriate topography and soil conditions, and the availability of facilities and services;

2. Encourage the redevelopment and renewal of blighted areas;

3. Encourage the elimination or reduction of uses inconsistent with the community's character and future land uses;

4. Ensure the protection of natural resources and historic resources;

5. Coordinate coastal planning area population densities with the appropriate local or regional hurricane evacuation plan, when applicable;

6. Coordinate future land uses by encouraging the elimination or reduction of uses that are inconsistent with any interagency hazard mitigation report recommendations that the local government determines to be appropriate;

7. Coordinate with any appropriate resource planning and management plan prepared pursuant to Chapter 380, F.S., and approved by the Governor and Cabinet;

8. Discourage the proliferation of urban sprawl;

9. Ensure the availability of suitable land for utility facilities necessary to support proposed development;

10. Encourage the use of innovative land development regulations which may include provisions for planned unit developments and other mixed land use development techniques; and

11. Ensure the availability of dredge spoil disposal sites for coastal counties and municipalities that have spoil disposal responsibilities.

(c) The element shall contain one or more policies for each objective which address implementation activities for the:

1. Regulation of land use categories included on the future land use map or map series; subdivisions; signage; and areas subject to seasonal or periodic flooding;

2. Provision for compatibility of adjacent land uses;

3. Provision that facilities and services meet the locally established level of service standards, and are available concurrent with the impacts of development, or that development orders and permits are specifically conditioned on the availability of the facilities and services necessary to serve the proposed development; and that facilities that provide utility service to the various land uses are authorized at the same time as the land uses are authorized;

4. Provision for drainage and stormwater management, open space, and safe and convenient on-site traffic flow, considering needed vehicle parking;

5. Provision of mixed land use designation policies, if locally desired;

6. Protection of potable water wellfields by designating appropriate activities and land uses within wellhead protection areas, and environmentally sensitive land;

7. Establishment of standards for densities or intensities of use for each future land use category;

8. Identification, designation and protection of historically significant properties; and

9. Designation of dredge spoil disposal sites for counties and municipalities located in the coastal area and include the criteria for site selection established in consultation with navigation and inlet districts and other appropriate state and federal agencies and the public. Site selection criteria shall ensure sufficient sites to meet future needs, be consistent with environmental and natural resource protection policies established in the elements of this plan and meet reasonable cost and transportation requirements.

(4) Future Land Use Map.

(a) The proposed distribution, extent, and location of the following generalized land uses shall be shown on the future land use map or map series:

1. Residential use;
2. Commercial use;
3. Industrial use;
4. Agricultural use;
5. Recreational use;
6. Conservation use;
7. Educational use;
8. Public buildings and grounds;
9. Other public facilities; and
10. Historic district boundaries and designated historically significant properties meriting protection.
11. Transportation concurrency management area boundaries or transportation concurrency exception area boundaries, if any such areas have been designated.
12. Multimodal transportation district boundaries, if any such areas have been designated.

(b) The following natural resources or conditions shall be shown on the future land use map or map series:

1. Existing and planned public potable waterwells and wellhead protection areas;
2. Beaches and shores, including estuarine systems;
3. Rivers, bays, lakes, flood plains, and harbors;
4. Wetlands;
5. Minerals and soils; and
6. Coastal high hazard areas.

(c) Mixed use categories of land use are encouraged. If used, policies for the implementation of such mixed uses shall be included in the comprehensive plan, including the types of land uses allowed, the percentage distribution among the mix of uses, or other objective measurement, and the density or intensity of each use.

(d) If determined by the local government to be appropriate, educational uses, public buildings and grounds, and other public facilities may be shown as one land use category on the future land use map or map series.

(e) If the local government has determined it necessary to utilize other categories of the public and private use of land, such categories of land use shall be shown on the future land use map or map series.

(f) The future land use map or map series of a county may also designate areas for possible future municipal incorporation.

(5) Review of Plans and Plan Amendments for Discouraging the Proliferation of Urban Sprawl.

(a) Purpose. The purpose of this subsection is to give guidance to local governments and other interested parties about how to make sure that plans and plan amendments are consistent with relevant provisions of the state comprehensive plan, regional policy plans, Chapter 163, Part II, F.S., and the remainder of this chapter regarding discouraging urban sprawl, including provisions concerning the efficiency of land use, the efficient provision of public facilities and services, the separation of urban and rural land uses, and the protection of agriculture and natural resources.

(b) Determination. The determination of whether a plan or plan amendment discourages the proliferation of urban sprawl shall be based upon the standards contained in this subsection.

(c) In general. The discouragement of urban sprawl accomplishes many related planning objectives. The purpose of this subsection is to provide a general methodology for examining whether or not a plan or plan amendment discourages the proliferation of urban sprawl. This subsection is organized into twelve paragraphs, paragraphs (5)(a) through (5)(l). Nothing in this paragraph (5) shall be interpreted to require that a local government submit information beyond the information required by other provisions of this chapter.

(d) Use of indicators. Paragraph (5)(g) describes those aspects or attributes of a plan or plan amendment which, when present, indicate that the plan or plan amendment may fail to discourage urban sprawl. For purposes of reviewing the plan for discouragement of urban sprawl, an evaluation shall be made whether any of these indicators is present in a plan or plan amendment. If an indicator is present, the extent, amount or frequency of that indicator shall be considered. The presence and potential effects of multiple indicators shall be considered to determine whether they collectively reflect a failure to discourage urban sprawl.

(e) Methodology for determining indicators. Paragraphs (5)(h) through (5)(j) describe the three major components of a methodology to determine the presence of urban sprawl indicators. Paragraph (5)(h) describes how land use aspects of a plan shall be analyzed. The land use element, including both the future land use map and associated objectives and policies, represents the focal point of the local government's planning effort. Paragraph (5)(i) describes the unique features and characteristics of each jurisdiction which provide the context of the analysis and which are needed to evaluate the extent, amount or frequency of an indicator and the significance of an indicator for a specific jurisdiction. Paragraph (5)(j) recognizes that land use plans generally may be significantly affected by other development policies in a plan which may serve to mitigate the presence of urban sprawl indicators based on the land use plan alone. Paragraph (5)(j) describes development controls which may be used by a local government to mitigate the presence of sprawl.

(f) Analysis components. subsection (5)(k) describes how the analysis components described in subsections (5)(h) through (5)(j) are combined in a systematic way to determine the presence of urban sprawl indicators.

(g) Primary indicators. The primary indicators that a plan or plan amendment does not discourage the proliferation of urban sprawl are listed below. The evaluation of the presence of these indicators shall consist of an analysis of the plan or plan amendment within the context of features and characteristics unique to each locality in order to determine whether the plan or plan amendment:

1. Promotes, allows or designates for development substantial areas of the jurisdiction to develop as low-intensity, low-density, or single-use development or uses in excess of demonstrated need.

2. Promotes, allows or designates significant amounts of urban development to occur in rural areas at substantial distances from existing urban areas while leaping over undeveloped lands which are available and suitable for development.

3. Promotes, allows or designates urban development in radial, strip, isolated or ribbon patterns generally emanating from existing urban developments.

4. As a result of premature or poorly planned conversion of rural land to other uses, fails adequately to protect and conserve natural resources, such as wetlands, floodplains, native vegetation, environmentally sensitive areas, natural groundwater aquifer recharge areas, lakes, rivers, shorelines, beaches, bays, estuarine systems, and other significant natural systems.

5. Fails adequately to protect adjacent agricultural areas and activities, including silviculture, and including active agricultural and silvicultural activities as well as passive agricultural activities and dormant, unique and prime farmlands and soils.

6. Fails to maximize use of existing public facilities and services.

7. Fails to maximize use of future public facilities and services.

8. Allows for land use patterns or timing which disproportionately increase the cost in time, money and energy, of providing and maintaining facilities and services, including roads, potable water, sanitary sewer, stormwater management, law enforcement, education, health care, fire and emergency response, and general government.

9. Fails to provide a clear separation between rural and urban uses.

10. Discourages or inhibits infill development or the redevelopment of existing neighborhoods and communities.

11. Fails to encourage an attractive and functional mix of uses.

12. Results in poor accessibility among linked or related land uses.

13. Results in the loss of significant amounts of functional open space.

(h) Evaluation of land uses. The comprehensive plan must be reviewed in its entirety to make the determinations in (5)(g) above. Plan amendments must be reviewed individually and for their impact on the remainder of the plan. However, in either case, a land use analysis will be the focus of the review and constitute the primary factor for making the determinations. Land use types cumulatively (within the entire jurisdiction and areas less than the entire jurisdiction, and in proximate areas outside the jurisdiction) will be evaluated based on density, intensity, distribution and functional relationship, including an analysis of the distribution of urban and rural land uses. Each land use type will be evaluated based on:

1. Extent.

2. Location.

3. Distribution.

4. Density.

5. Intensity.

6. Compatibility.

7. Suitability.

8. Functional relationship.

9. Land use combinations.

10. Demonstrated need over the planning period.

(i) Local conditions. Each of the land use factors in (5)(h) above will be evaluated within the context of features and characteristics unique to each locality. These include:

1. Size of developable area.

2. Projected growth rate (including population, commerce, industry, and agriculture).

3. Projected growth amounts (acres per land use category).

4. Facility availability (existing and committed).

5. Existing pattern of development (built and vested), including an analysis of the extent to which the existing pattern of development reflects urban sprawl.

6. Projected growth trends over the planning period, including the change in the overall density or intensity of urban development throughout the jurisdiction.

7. Costs of facilities and services, such as per capita cost over the planning period in terms of resources and energy.

8. Extra-jurisdictional and regional growth characteristics.

9. Transportation networks and use characteristics (existing and committed).

10. Geography, topography and various natural features of the jurisdiction.

(j) Development controls. Development controls in the comprehensive plan may affect the determinations in (5)(g) above. The following development controls, to the extent they are included in the comprehensive plan, will be evaluated to determine how they discourage urban sprawl:

1. Open space requirements.

2. Development clustering requirements.

3. Other planning strategies, including the establishment of minimum development density and intensity, affecting the pattern and character of development.

4. Phasing of urban land use types, densities, intensities, extent, locations, and distribution over time, as measured through the permitted changes in land use within each urban land use category in the plan, and the timing and location of those changes.

5. Land use locational criteria related to the existing development pattern, natural resources and facilities and services.

6. Infrastructure extension controls, and infrastructure maximization requirements and incentives.

7. Allocation of the costs of future development based on the benefits received.

8. The extent to which new development pays for itself.

9. Transfer of development rights.

10. Purchase of development rights.

11. Planned unit development requirements.

12. Traditional neighborhood developments.

13. Land use functional relationship linkages and mixed land uses.

14. Jobs-to-housing balance requirements.

15. Policies specifying the circumstances under which future amendments could designate new lands for the urbanizing area.

16. Provision for new towns, rural villages or rural activity centers.

17. Effective functional buffering requirements.

18. Restriction on expansion of urban areas.

19. Planning strategies and incentives which promote the continuation of productive agricultural areas and the protection of environmentally sensitive lands.

20. Urban service areas.

21. Urban growth boundaries.

22. Access management controls.

(k) Evaluation of factors. Each of the land use types and land use combinations analyzed in paragraph (5)(h) above will be evaluated within the context of the features and characteristics of the locality, individually and together (as appropriate), as listed in paragraph (5)(i). If a local government has in place a comprehensive plan found in compliance, the Department shall not find a plan amendment to be not in compliance on the issue of discouraging urban sprawl solely because of preexisting indicators if the amendment does not exacerbate existing indicators of urban sprawl within the jurisdiction.

(l) Innovative and flexible planning and development strategies. Notwithstanding and as a means of addressing any provisions contained in subparagraphs 9J-5.006(3)(b)8., 9J-5.011(2)(b)3. and subsection 9J-5.003(140), F.A.C., and this subsection, the Department encourages innovative and flexible planning and development strategies and creative land use planning techniques in local plans. Planning strategies and techniques such as urban villages, new towns, satellite communities, area-based allocations, clustering and open space provisions, mixed-use development and sector planning that allow the conversion of rural and agricultural lands to other uses while protecting environmentally sensitive areas, maintaining the economic viability of agricultural and other predominantly rural land uses, and providing for the cost-efficient delivery of public facilities and services, will be recognized as methods of discouraging urban sprawl and will be determined consistent with the provisions of the state comprehensive plan, regional policy plans, Chapter 163, Part II, F.S., and this chapter regarding discouraging the proliferation of urban sprawl.

(6) Multimodal Transportation District. Multimodal transportation districts may be established by local option for areas for which the local government assigns priority for a safe, comfortable, and attractive pedestrian environment. The local government must establish community design standards for the district to reduce vehicle miles traveled and to support an integrated, multimodal transportation system that includes the elements for community design specified in Section 163.3180(15)(b), F.S.

North River Communities, LLC Proposed Development: Critical Issues and Concerns

CONSERVANCY Of Southwest Florida

Proposed Development Plans

- Mixed-use residential and boating community
- 4 marinas
- 474 new slips
- Would destroy:
  - 23.49 acres jurisdictional wetlands
  - 17.59 acres non-jurisdictional wetlands
  - 8.91 acres jurisdictional waters
  - 2.83 acres non-jurisdictional waters
- Would remove weir at mouth of Owl Creek

CONSERVANCY Of Southwest Florida

Owl Creek I

- 70 permanent wet slips, 300 dry slips
- Transient docking, fueling, sewage pumpout
- Shuttle to Williams Island
- Would dredge 35,100 cubic yards of material to enlarge basin

Owl Creek II

- 150 wet slips
- Would dredge 6,230 cubic yards for flushing channel
- Would dredge 33,262 cubic yards over 12.8 acres from basin

CONSERVANCY Of Southwest Florida

Williams Island Marina

- Destination point:
  - Cottage, picnic areas, restaurant, trails, pool & spa, meeting facilities, fish cleaning station
- 40 wet slips
- Barge landing along river
- Would dredge 3,735 cubic yards

Duke Highway Docks

- Destination point:
  - Picnic tables, gazebos, bathrooms, fire pits, cooking grills
- 8 transient slips

CONSERVANCY Of Southwest Florida

Serious Regulatory Concerns

- Endangered Species Act (ESA)
- Marine Mammal Protection Act (MMPA)
- National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA)
- Clean Water Act (CWA)

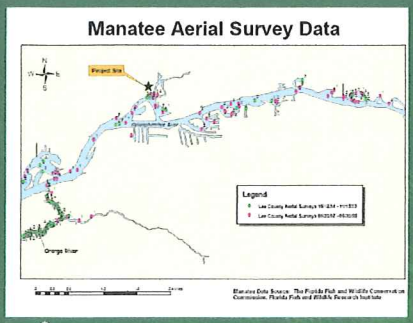
CONSERVANCY Of Southwest Florida

The Florida Manatee: Lee County and the Caloosahatchee River

- Caloosahatchee River has the highest number of manatee deaths from watercraft collisions of any river on the west coast of Florida
- Lee County led state manatee deaths in 2008 with 14 watercraft-related deaths despite implementation of Manatee Protection Plan (MPP) in 2004
- Declining economic conditions have not led to the expected decrease in manatee deaths

CONSERVANCY Of Southwest Florida

Documented Manatee Occurrence



CONSERVANCY Of Southwest Florida

Further Development and the Future of the Manatee

- Best available information shows manatee population in southwest Florida expected to decline
- In compliance with the MMPA, not one manatee death per year can be authorized by the USFWS in southwest Florida
  - No incidental take permits allowed
- Potential for cumulative impact along the Caloosahatchee River

CONSERVANCY Of Southwest Florida

Impacts to the Endangered Wood Stork

- Project site within foraging range of documented wood stork rookery
  - Foraging site location details were not included in public notice
- Applicant must show:
  - That they have avoided and minimized impacts on wood stork population
  - That proposed improvements to foraging areas will lead to a net benefit for wood storks

CONSERVANCY Of Southwest Florida

Other Protected Species

- Property includes habitat for the Florida Panther, eastern indigo snake, Florida scrub jay, Audubon's crested caracara, and red-cockaded woodpecker
- U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and Army Corps of Engineers must show that protected species habitat will not be destroyed

CONSERVANCY Of Southwest Florida

Conservancy Proposals

- Application should be denied because applicant has not adequately avoided impacts to the Florida manatee, the wood stork or to the wetlands in general
  - Avoid unnecessary destruction of wetlands
  - No dredging for larger boats and more slips
- If permit is approved, an Environmental Impact Statement should be prepared consistent with NEPA
- Conservancy of Southwest Florida should be added to list of interested stakeholders
- Public hearing should be arranged

Urban Sprawl

- 9J-5.003—"Urban sprawl"
  - Manifested in:
    - Leapfrog or scattered development;
    - Ribbon or strip development; or
    - Large expanses of predominantly:
      - low-intensity
      - low-density
      - single-use development.
  - Urban development in predominantly rural areas
  - Rural areas interspersed with:
    - low-intensity urban uses
    - low-density urban uses
  - Characterized by:
    - Premature/poorly planned conversion of rural land
    - Urban uses not functionally related to adjoining land uses
    - Urban uses failing to maximize existing public facilities
    - Failure to use areas within which infrastructure is available

Sprawl Analysis

Bonita Bay Group®

1.) Low-intensity, low-density, or single-use development or uses in excess of demonstrated need

- North River Village consists of mixed uses, including SF, MF, support commercial, recreational, public, and conservation

2.) Promotes, allows, or designates urban development in rural areas at substantial distances from existing urban areas, leaping over undeveloped lands available and suitable for development

- North River Village property located proximate to existing and proposed urban and suburban development
- No undeveloped lands available between North River Village and urban core

Sprawl Analysis

3.) Promotes, allows, or designates urban development in radial, strip, isolated or ribbon patterns emanating from existing urban developments

- Required interconnections, clustered development and design provides neighborhood relationships
- Compact design between and adjacent to urban & suburban development

Sprawl Analysis

4.) Fails adequately to protect and conserve natural resources

- Extensive preservation efforts and 'green' design elements required
- Development located on most suitable lands
- +/- 330 acres slated for preservation
- Managed dock facilities
- Habitat and flowway restoration

5.) Fails to adequately protect adjacent agricultural areas and activities

- 'Edge' policies provide buffers while maintaining connectivity
- Buffers and setbacks from proximate agricultural operations established in Plan policies

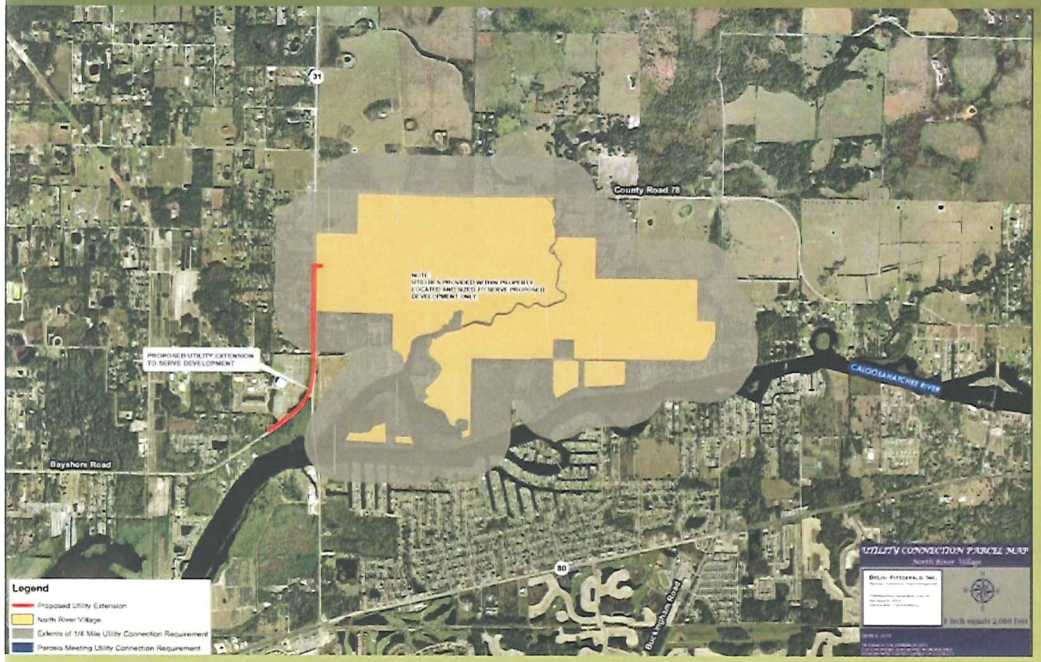
Sprawl Analysis



6.) Fails to maximize use of existing public facilities and services and fails to maximize use of future public facilities and services

- Policies require infrastructure analysis, capacity expansion & extension as necessary
- Utility extension at developer's expense
- Existing systems to be utilized for infrastructure provision

7.) Allows for land use patterns or timing which disproportionately increase the cost in time, money and energy, of providing and maintaining facilities and services

- Urban uses already exist in area
- Proposed development of new town north of subject property
- Infrastructure expansion funded by development

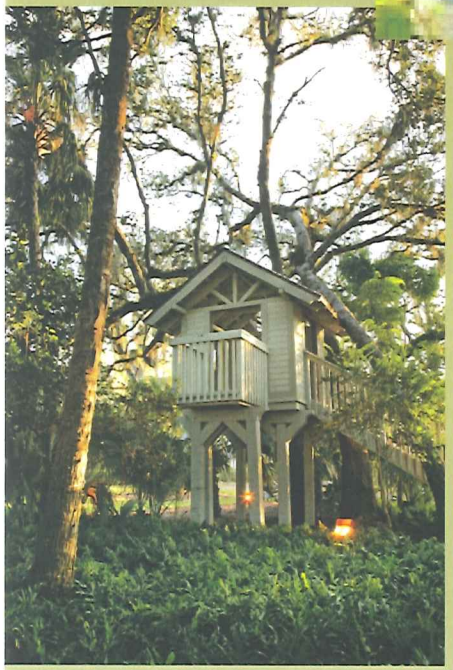
Sprawl Analysis



8.) Fails to provide a clear separation between rural and urban uses

- Policies provide for boundary
- Clear distinction between uses established by category
- Policies manage expansion of urban areas

9.) Discourages or inhibits infill development or the redevelopment of existing neighborhoods and communities

- North River Village surrounded on three sides by existing or proposed development
- New criteria established for development at urban edge

Sprawl Analysis

10.) Fails to encourage an attractive and functional mix of uses

- Policies require functional mix of uses
- Community aesthetic preserved in design criteria

11.) Results in poor accessibility among linked or related land uses and results in the loss of significant amounts of functional open space

- Creation of functional open space mandated
- Connectivity with off-site open space corridors provided

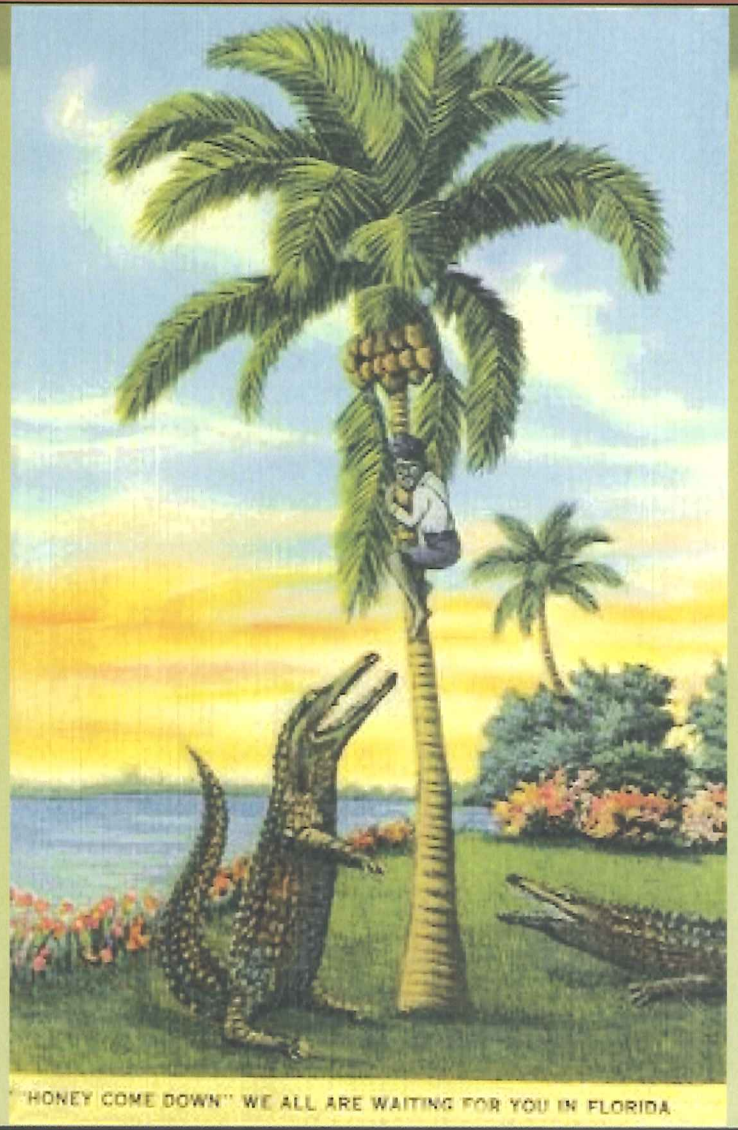
Sprawl Issues: Conclusions

- River Village Policies discourage sprawl
- Proposed FLUM amendment not characteristic of sprawl
- Proposed policies emblematic of smart growth approach to development
- Proposed FLUM amendment reflects smart growth principles



Land Use Accommodation

Bonita Bay Group®

- Statute (163.3177) & Rule (9J-5.005) require:
  - Population projections based upon methodologically sound data
  - Plan & FLUM to based upon anticipated population
  - An analysis of the amount of land needed to accommodate the projected population, including:

    1. The categories of land use and their densities or intensities of use,
    2. The estimated gross acreage needed by category, and
    3. A description of the methodology used

Allocation Summary

- County has recognized need to amend allocations
- County-wide systemic difficulties
  - Development parameters:
    - Decreased intensity—Verandah
    - Pine Island restrictions
  - Municipal recalculations
    - Bonita Springs
  - Public acquisition lands
  - Unanticipated growth—Babcock
- Alva Planning Community
  - Latest Census data now available
  - New data available on growth limits
    - Wetlands

Precedent

1. A legal decision or form of proceeding serving as an authoritative rule or pattern in future similar or analogous situations
2. Any act, decision, or case that serves as a guide or justification for subsequent situations.
3. Convention or custom arising from long practice

Economic Viability of Existing Land Use

1. Continuing agricultural uses
2. Serengeti-type subdivision
3. Maximum riverfront utilization in 100' wide pieces
4. Minimal infrastructure installation

Bonita Bay Group

North River Village: Benefits

Bonita Bay Group®

- Clusters development on most suitable land
- Mandates open space and indigenous areas at higher levels
- Provides walkable, human-scale communities
- Provides central utilities
- Creates compatible 'edge' with adjoining North Olga community
- Implements design criteria consistent with community aesthetic
- Provides public access to river and marina village
- Provide public recreation facilities
- Provides enhanced roadways and intersections
- Establishes new hurricane shelter space
- Mandates enhanced use of 'green' building techniques
- Implements low impact design techniques
- Restores flowways
- Enhances and preserves habitat

River Village Land Use Category

Objective 1.10: The River Village Land Use Category will provide for innovative development which is designed to protect environmentally sensitive areas, provide for the delivery of public facilities and services, promote the rural community character, and allow for the efficient use of land. The River Village land use category will permit the use of smart growth principles to direct the form and design of communities to achieve environmental, planning and rural character objectives. These objectives will be achieved by promoting compact mixed use development as an alternative to low density single use development, and will require that infrastructure and environmental design standards are implemented in a financially feasible manner.

The minimum density in the River Village land use category is 1.5 units an acre and the maximum density is three units per acre. The mix of uses will be evaluated through the planned development process and will be based upon implementation of the following policies.

Policy 1.10.1 Development in a River Village is encouraged to incorporate a mix of uses, such as commercial, civic and recreational uses, to serve the development and the surrounding community. The residential development in the River Village must be clustered to avoid, where possible, areas of environmental sensitivity and must promote both connectivity between uses and walkability throughout the development. The commercial uses will be located, to the extent possible, with adequate community access and design standards that protect the character of the surrounding rural area. Commercial uses will be designed to a "Human-Scale", as defined in the Lee Plan.

Policy 1.10.2: All development utilizing the River Village category will require rezoning to Mixed Use Planned Development. Further, any development within the Alva Planning Community that includes an increase in density, must be zoned and developed in compliance with the River Village land use category.

Policy 1.10.3: To ensure that development occurs in a manner that is consistent with Lee County's goals for the protection of natural aquatic systems and the enhancement of water quality within the Caloosahatchee River basin, new development or redevelopment within the River Village land use category will be required to provide or connect to central water and sewer facilities.

Policy 1.10.4: Water conservation measures will be implemented during the site construction process, utilizing the following mechanisms:

1. Accepting reuse water, if available, and
2. Using drought tolerant landscape material for 80% of all required landscaping.
3. Limit the amount of irrigated turf to 50% for all residential lots.

Policy 1.10.5: Each River Village Community will be required to provide an overall 50% on site Open Space requirement as defined in Chapter 10-416 of the Lee County Land Development Code. Water Quality enhancements, including increased lake area with the specific intent of improving off site water quality will be counted at a rate of 100% toward the open space requirement. Individual pods, tracts, and parcels may be designed and developed with a minimum of 10% open space to facilitate the clustering of uses.

Policy 1.10.6: To provide the opportunity to restore natural water flows, development within a River Village category will provide a minimum of 50' buffer from the mean high water line. Buffer areas may contain passive recreational uses, river oriented recreational uses such as a canoe/kayak launch with an ancillary building, and necessary community infrastructure crossing points. This policy is not intended to apply to the improvements or expansion of any marina facility that is identified on the Lee County Water Dependant Overlay Map Series. Residential dwelling units must not be constructed within 50 feet of the MHWL of natural water bodies. Accessory structures may be located within 25 feet of the MHWL of natural water bodies and water dependant uses may be permitted with a zero foot setback.

Policy 1.10.7 Subsequent to the approval of a Planned Development, the limits of environmental preserves, as depicted on the Master Concept Plan, will be administratively designated as "Conservation" on the future land use map.

Policy 1.10.8 Each River Village development-that is adjacent to natural and navigable bodies of water must provide reasonable public access to the natural water body. Public access may be provided through any combination of parking and canoe/kayak launch facilities, provision of passive recreational facilities, development or redevelopment of a marina facility, access to commercial or civic uses open to the public, including a boat launch, docking facilities, or a promenade along the waterfront. Connection to existing public blueways and pedestrian trails will be encouraged.

Policy 1.10.9 To promote preservation of the rural character, a minimum 100 foot rural edge protection area must be incorporated along all edges adjacent to State and County maintained arterial roads and 50 feet along adjacent properties under separate ownership. The rural edge protection area must contain one or more elements that are representative of rural character including grove area, livestock grazing, pervious recreational areas or open space, preserves, equestrian facilities, lake or other elements of rural character. Berms and walls that are intended to provide a visual barrier will not be permitted along State and County maintained arterial roads and are discouraged along the remaining perimeter, unless specifically requested by the adjoining property owners. The use of perimeter fencing including but not limited to horse fences and picket fences will be encouraged. This policy is not intended to preclude any berms required to meet the requirements of the South Florida Water Management District.

Policy 1.10.10 Development within the North River Village property as described in Map XXX is limited to 2,500 residential units and 150,000 square feet of commercial floor area, not including marina, civic private recreational/community and recreational facilities. Development within this property must, in addition to complying with

Policies 1.10.1 thru 1.10.9, be located and designed using environmental best management practices consisting of the following:

1. Meet the requirements of a Green Community by the Florida Green Building Coalition.
2. Utilize elements from the Florida Yards and Neighborhoods program, Florida Firewise Communities and Backyard Wildlife Habitat Program. The developer will incorporate appropriate elements at the time of Planned Development review.
3. During the Planned Development process this property will analyze opportunities to improve water quality in degraded water bodies directly connected to the property.
4. This property will provide public access to the Caloosahatchee River either through the Owl Creek Boat Marina and/or a passive recreational facility along Trout Creek.

Policy 1.10.11. Development within the North River Village property will be designed to preserve native trees and promote the preservation and restoration of wetlands, listed species habitat and rare and unique uplands. In order to protect the natural creeks and associated wetland systems within this part of the county, development will preserve high quality wetlands that are adjacent to natural water bodies. Site design will include minimizing impacts to native trees as much as feasible. Where impacts to live oak and laurel oak trees that have a greater than 10 inch caliper dbh are unavoidable, these trees will be relocated to the greatest extent feasible and used within the landscape design of the project.

EFFECTIVE DATE AUGUST 19, 1999 AT 11:00 P.M.

ALL MATTERS OF RECORD, INCLUDING BUT NOT LIMITED TO EASEMENTS, RIGHT-OF-WAYS OR OTHER MATTERS OF RECORD, THAT ARE DEPICTABLE ON THE FACE OF THIS SURVEY ARE SHOWN. THERE ARE NO SUB-SURFACE RIGHTS, EASEMENTS OR CLAIMS DEPICTED HEREON.

6. THIS SURVEY DOES NOT MAKE ANY REPRESENTATION AS TO ZONING OR DEVELOPMENT RESTRICTIONS ON THE SUBJECT PARCEL.
7. NO ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT OR AUDIT WAS PERFORMED IN CONJUNCTION WITH THIS SURVEY.
8. THIS SURVEY WAS PERFORMED FOR THE PURPOSE SHOWN HEREON AND DOES NOT MAKE ANY REPRESENTATION AS TO THE DELINEATION OF ANY JURISDICTIONAL LINES EXCEPT AS SHOWN OR NOTED HEREON.
9. PARCEL CONTAINS 1455.36 ACRES, MORE OR LESS.
10. SURVEYED PARCEL IS LOCATED IN FEMA FLOOD ZONES AE (EL 8.4'), AE (EL 10'&11') & ZONE B AS TAKEN BY SCALE FROM FIRM COMMUNITY PANEL 125124 0225 C, EFFECTIVE DATE 03/15/84 & 125124 0250 B, EFFECTIVE DATE 9/15/84. LINES AS SHOWN HEREON ARE APPROXIMATE.
11. OWNERSHIP OF FENCE SHOWN HEREON UNKNOWN UNLESS NOTED OTHERWISE.
12. ADJOINING DEED INFORMATION IS FOR "INFORMATIONAL PURPOSES ONLY" AND WERE TAKEN FROM THE LEE COUNTY PROPERTY APPRAISERS OFFICE.
13. THIS SURVEY IS A COMPILATION OF INDIVIDUAL, INDEPENDENT SURVEYS FOR EACH OF THE PARCELS AT THE TIME OF ACQUISITION. THE PERIMETER OF THE AGGREGATE BOUNDARY WAS RECENTLY BEEN UPDATED AND VERIFIED WITH REGARDS TO ENCROACHMENTS, MONUMENTATION AND FENCING.
14. THE MEAN HIGH WATER LINE DEPICTED HEREON IS BASED ON A SURVEY CONDUCTED IN AUGUST, SEPTEMBER OF 2000, PURSUANT TO THE GUIDELINES AND APPROVAL OF THE BUREAU OF SURVEYING AND MAPPING AT THE DEPARTMENT OF ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION. THE METHODS USED TO LOCATE THE MEAN HIGH WATER ELEVATION (1.05 NGVD) INCLUDE, BUT ARE NOT LIMITED TO GPS, TRADITIONAL GROUND TRAVERSE METHODS AND OTHER ACCEPTED GROUND SURVEY PRACTICES. MEAN HIGH WATER SURVEY PROCEDURAL APPROVAL, JOB NUMBER 002116, RECEIVED AUGUST 17, 2000.
15. ELEVATIONS SHOWN HEREON ARE BASED ON A LEVEL LOOP RUN BY THIS FIRM REFERENCED TO USC & GS BENCHMARK H-73, 1929 NGVD, ELEVATION = 7.215'.

THIS SURVEY IS FOR THE BENEFIT OF:

Presentation Outline

1. Plan Amendment Overview - Dan DeLisi, AICP
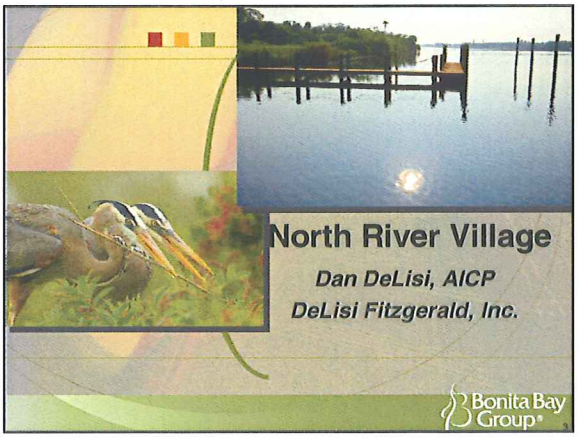
2. Project Summary - Katherine Green, President/CEO Bonita Bay Group



Revisions Since Last September

- Incorporated staff's suggested revisions.
- Changed and lowered the height policy
- Initially proposed to change timing of designation of Conservation lands
  - Since the revised staff report, the applicant has agreed to remove that language.
- Strengthened several policies by changing "May" to "Must"

Bonita Bay Group

Areas of Agreement/Disagreement

- Rural Land Use Category allows for 1 du/acre.
- One Central Disagreement with Staff
  - Staff: Urban Development Encroaching into a Rural area
  - Applicant: Lee Plan already promotes Suburban style of development. Additional density won't change that, but will add many more public and planning benefits in form of development.

Bonita Bay Group

Areas of Agreement/Disagreement

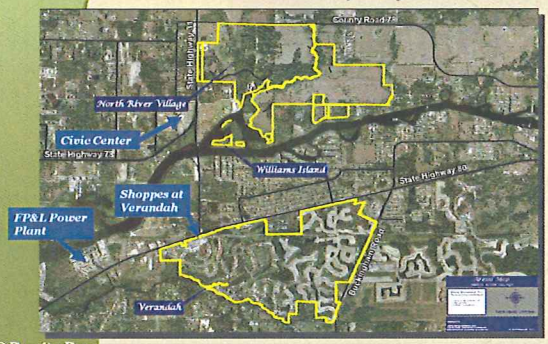
- Very positive feedback on past BBG development
- The way this is different is that we are:
  - Significantly raising the bar on environmental preservation standards over any past development.
  - Doing more to improve road network
  - Providing more and new community wide benefits
- Real issue is density at this location

Bonita Bay Group

Location & Context

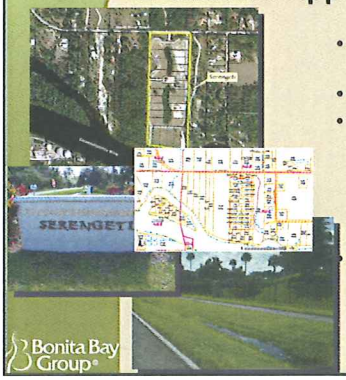
Bonita Bay Group

Location of the Property



Bonita Bay Group

Traditional Approaches



- Not a question of IF this property develops
- Question is HOW
- Rural land use allows for suburban sprawl
  - Not "rural"
  - Not environmentally sensitive
  - No edge protection
- WE CAN DO BETTER

Suggested Densities to Distinguish Urban from Rural Population

Population Density (persons per square mile)	Classification
0 - 200	Rural
201 - 500	Exurban
501 - 1000	Suburban
1001 - 2000	Medium Density
2001 - 5000	High Density
5000+	Highest Urban Density

Bonita Bay Group

Sprawl – FDCA and Good Planning

- Indicators of Urban Sprawl
  - Promotes substantial areas to develop as low-intensity, low-density, or single-use development
  - Leap Frog Development
  - Fails adequately to protect and conserve natural resources
  - Fails to maximize use of public facilities
  - Allows for land use patterns or timing which disproportionately increase the cost in time, money and energy, of providing and maintaining facilities
  - Mix of Uses

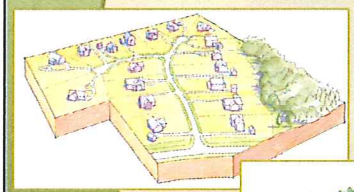
Bonita Bay Group

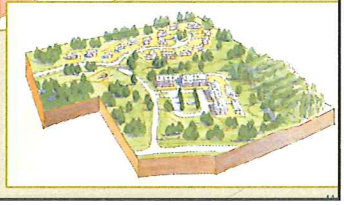
Sprawl vs. Good Planning

- How do planners suggest to protect and restore the environment?
  - Designing Compact land uses that preserve natural features

Bonita Bay Group

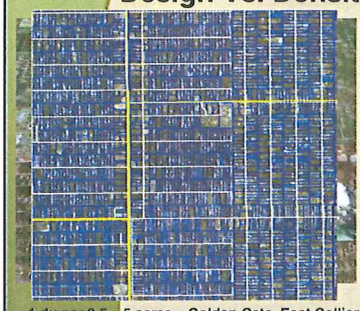
Sprawl Vs. Good Planning





Bonita Bay Group

Design Vs. Density



1 du per 2.5 – 5 acres – Golden Gate, East Collier

- Compact development with contiguous open space preserves the environment, not Low Density
- Golden Gate in Collier County has a density of 1 du/2.5 – 5 acres. Significantly lower than the Lee County Rural Land Use Category

Bonita Bay Group

Greenway Connections

- Environmental Linkages with Targeted Lands
- 20/20 recent purchases $13-$20,000/acre
  - Net Value of Conservation Lands $4.2 million
  - Restored and Maintained by Developer

Environmental Benefits

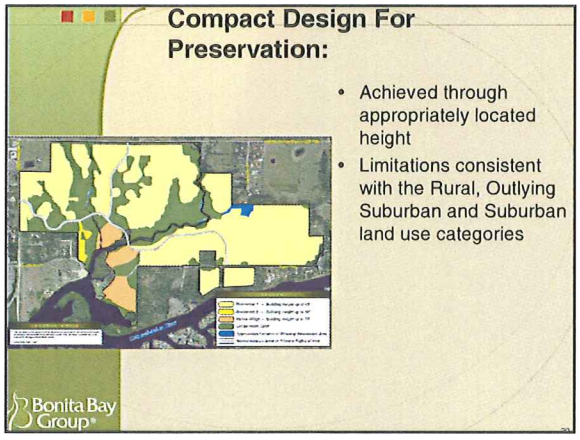
- River Village increases open space requirement by 25%
- River Village – increases indigenous requirement by 50+%
- Value achieved through density, not individual lot size

Bonita Bay Group

Increased Preservation Policies 1.10.4 and 1.10.19

Bonita Bay Group

Environmental Benefits:
Special Treatment Areas
• Design to incorporate or relocate significant indigenous trees
Bonita Bay Group



Compact Design For Preservation:
• Achieved through appropriately located height
• Limitations consistent with the Rural, Outlying Suburban and Suburban land use categories

Sprawl – DCA and Good Planning

- Population Accommodation – DCA's accounting mechanism to track population movement
  - In Lee County, population accommodation is implemented through the County's 2030 Allocation Tables.
  - Population is distributed and assigned to reflect market conditions and how growth is occurring throughout the county.
  - Tables updated regularly to reflect unit projections of areas in the County.
  - Tables follow the FLUM, not the other way around.

Bonita Bay Group

Evolution of a New Land Use Category

- Initial meetings with North Olga residents
  - Compatibility with existing residential
  - Enhanced quality of life
- Input from community
  - No berms/no gates
  - Preserve character of CR 78
  - Environmental enhancement
  - Green building
  - Water quality of the river

Bonita Bay Group

New Land Use Category

- Public/water access:
  - Passive observation points that create a sense of place
  - Serene canoe/kayak launch
  - Williams Island access
  - Boating access

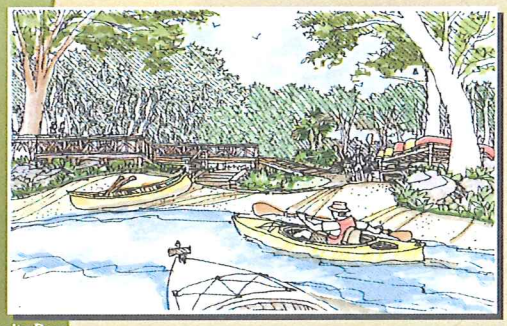
Bonita Bay Group

Public Access to Water: Proposed Policy 1.10.6



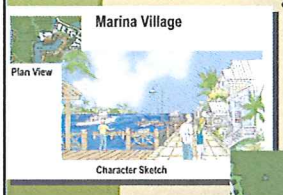
Bonita Bay Group

Public Benefits: River Access

Bonita Bay Group

Marina Village

- Creating a North Olga Community Destination
  - Marina Village
  - Waterfront Shops
  - Promenade



Bonita Bay Group

Perimeter Treatments: Proposed Policy

CR 78 aka North River Road
Buffer and Public access

Policy 1.10.8 requires edge treatment to maintain existing community character

The Rural land use category allows for a typical community fence/ berm

Bonita Bay Group

Perimeter Treatments: Proposed Policy

Duke Highway

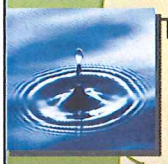
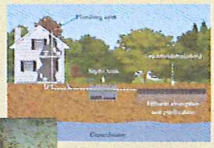
Character Sketch

Bonita Bay Group

Central Water/Sewer: Proposed Policy



To keep this…



Requires central utility systems to prevent proliferation of septic systems & wells along the river

…Eliminate these!

Bonita Bay Group

Low Impact Development

- LID (Low Impact Development): approach to site development that minimizes development impacts by:
  1. Decreasing impervious surfaces
  2. Reducing roadway surfaces
  3. Permeable pavement surfaces
  4. Natural resource preservation and Xeriscaping
  5. Improves water quality & storage

Bonita Bay Group

Green Building

- New Environmental Standards
  1. DEP Clean Marina Program
  2. Florida Green Building Coalition standards
  3. UF Build Green/Green Advantage Certification
  4. Florida Yards and Neighborhoods
  5. Firewise Communities
  6. NWF Backyard Wildlife Habitat Program
  7. US Green Building Council LEED Certification
  8. Good Cents Energy Saving Program

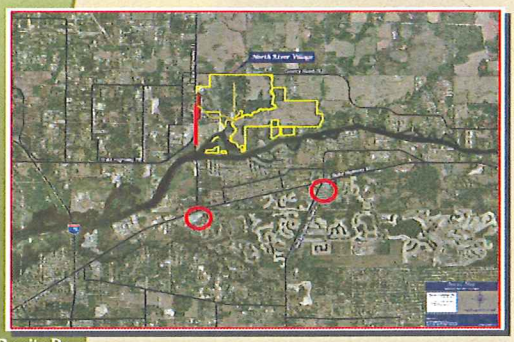
Public Benefits - Transportation:

- Impact Fees: Approx. $23 Million
- Transportation improvements in addition to impact fees
  - Provide ROW for SR 31
  - Design & construction, 4-lanes, SR 31, project entrance to CR 78
  - Intersection improvement at SR 80 & SR 31
  - Intersection improvement at SR 80 & Buckingham Road

Bonita Bay Group

Transportation Enhancements



Bonita Bay Group

Conclusion

- Change is from a Suburban form of development to a smarter Suburban development
- Goal is to create a land use category that improves upon the current Lee Plan
  1. More Compact, preserves more habitat
  2. Mitigating for all infrastructure impacts
  3. Going beyond mitigating to provide a net positive public benefit for the area.
  4. Need to break from existing practices to raise the bar for development.

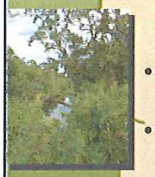
North River Village

Katherine Green,
President/CEO
Bonita Bay Group

Bonita Bay Group

North River Village: Overview



- Site has rare attributes
  - Natural creeks
  - Wildlife corridors
  - Adjacent to SR 31
- Current zoning has resulted in platted subdivision
- North Olga deserves better

Bonita Bay Group

North River Village: Tradeoff

- Business as usual
  - No required clustering, open space, mixed use
- Additional density
  - Protection of and access to river and creeks
  - Preservation of natural features
  - Significant economic benefits
  - Consistent with Smart Growth principles

Bonita Bay Group

North River Village Vs. Current Lee Plan

- Central Sewer – No Individual Septic Systems on the River
- Preserves/Restores More Land
- Strict Green Development and Building Standards
  - including limits on turf, plantings, energy savings, fertilizers, marina clean up etc.
- Edge Protection Areas
- Public Access to Waterfront
- Net Positive Improvements to Road Network
- Etc.
