Margaret-

Manatee Protection Plan evaluations remain valid until a re-evaluation of a proposed project is asked for by either the applicant or a regulatory agency or the proposed project changes significantly as to make the 'standing' evaluation invalid. In this instance, you describe the change of use of one of the structures from single family to temporary or staging dock. Additionally, the footprint of the structure will not change significantly. Given these details I do not feel that this change is significant enough to require additional evaluation under the MPP. Therefore the original evaluation stands as presented.

Please contact me with any additional questions.

Subject: Hidden Harbor Manatee Protection Plan

Justin as we just discussed, Hidden Harbor was permitted for single family docks. The Applicant wishes to use one of those docks for a community dock that would be for temporary tie ups only. Our question is, would the 2005 Hidden Harbor Manatee Protection Plan and your letter dated August 2, 2006 still apply to this situation? I have attached both documents for your convenience. I look forward to your confirmation.Thank you, Margaret.
